Gas flush packaging

We store several sizes of pouches with a special Saran barrier (P.V.D.C) designed to seal gas in. It is also very effective at protecting the colour of your food.

Gas flush packaging represents absolutely no danger to your health.

On the contrary, this method could double or even triple the shelf-life of some of your products. HOWEVER, you need the right pouch to fully benefit and get the results that you want.

Controlled or modified atmosphere packaging is complex. Our specialists will advise you on which products will truly meet your demands.
